The Birth of Ayumi Violin

In 2010, Mariko embarked on a new creative chapter by establishing Ayumi Violin, her own unique musical project. The name "Ayumi" is derived from the Japanese word for "walk," symbolizing her journey as a musician and her desire to connect with audiences through her music.

Ayumi Violin is an ensemble that transcends the boundaries of traditional chamber music. Mariko leads a multi-talented group of musicians, including pianist, guitarist, cellist, and percussionist, who collectively create a tapestry of sound that is both exhilarating and deeply moving.

Ayumi Violin's Repertoire

Ayumi Violin's repertoire is as diverse as its own instrumentation. The ensemble performs classical and contemporary works, as well as original compositions by Mariko herself. Her arrangements are characterized by their originality, sensitivity to the emotional content of the music, and a deep respect for the violin's capabilities.

Among Ayumi Violin's most notable performances are their arrangements of Bach's "Goldberg Variations," Ravel's "String Quartet in F Major," and Debussy's "Sonata for Violin and Piano." They have also collaborated with renowned musicians such as pianist Andrew Von Oeyen and cellist Misha Maisky.

Ayumi Violin's Impact

Ayumi Violin has made a significant impact on the international music scene. Mariko Tatsumoto's virtuosic playing and the ensemble's unique sound have won critical acclaim from both audiences and critics alike.

The ensemble has performed at prestigious venues worldwide, including the Carnegie Hall in New York, the Barbican Centre in London, and the Suntory Hall in Tokyo. They have also performed at major festivals such as the Edinburgh International Festival and the Salzburg Festival.

Beyond their performances, Ayumi Violin is dedicated to music education and outreach. Mariko Tatsumoto regularly gives masterclasses and workshops, sharing her knowledge and passion with aspiring musicians. The ensemble also collaborates with schools and community organizations to bring music to a wider audience.

Mariko Tatsumoto's Awards and Recognition

Mariko Tatsumoto's talent and artistry have been recognized with numerous awards and accolades. She is the recipient of the prestigious Suntory Music Award and the Idemitsu Music Award, two of the highest honors bestowed upon musicians in Japan.

In 2019, Mariko was awarded the Order of the Rising Sun, Gold Rays with Rosette, by the Emperor of Japan in recognition of her outstanding contributions to music.

Ayumi Violin: An Unforgettable Musical Experience

Ayumi Violin is a musical force that captivates and inspires. Mariko Tatsumoto's exceptional artistry, the ensemble's diverse repertoire, and their commitment to music education make them a truly remarkable musical ensemble.

Every performance by Ayumi Violin is a symphony of emotions, a testament to the transcendent power of music. It is a musical journey that will resonate long after the final note fades away.
